To,
Timothy Gravley
Colonel, US ARMY

Respected sir,

I strongly recommend Lieutenant General Antony for the position of major general. He has worked under my leadership in Columbus for 6 years and has demonstrated the unique qualities of a military person and loyalty to their work.

Lieutenant General Antony's promotion to major general would be the proper solution, he has proven time and time again that they are a disciplined, hard-working, confident leader. His team is perfectly organized, demonstrating his ability to control himself and manage his subordinate troops. Lieutenant General Antony's flawless loyalty to the cause is always strong as he wants to serve the army as best they can.

All these qualities of Lieutenant General Antony convince me to sincerely recommend him for the post of major general. I am sure that the new position is earned by honest work and will give the army many prospects. For more specific information, please call or email me.

Yours sincerely,
Earl Graham
