Subject: Personal Character Reference Letter

Hello,

I can write a recommendation for Steven Stuckey that highlights his uprightness. Steven and my son are good friends, and we have attended the same high school together for years. I have admired Steven for his enthusiasm for the last seven years. Two years ago, he and his son helped plan and lead a fund-raising trip to New York City for school clubs. He was a spark plug that made fundraising seem like a fun adventure.

Another example of Steven's enjoyment occurred last summer. He used to do the tasks associated with the Steven III. When they went on a two-week vacation, he asked Steven to do the lawn cutting twice. Even knowing that he'd have to cut only once, he did it twice. But he also discovered that when they stayed for a few extra days the lawn had not been nearly cut as often.

Steven also washes and waxes automobiles for people. While I was eating recently, I heard two neighbours talking with their autos. Neither one had noticed that young Steven did both of his own cars, and they each spoke very highly about the kid he made it shine like new.

I would certainly recommend Steven for any task where enthusiasm, hard work and trustworthiness are valued.

Sincerely,
Everett M. Martin
