Your Honour,

I am writing this letter in support of Jason, who stands before you today. I have known him for many years, and I can attest to the fact that they are a kind and gentle person who is capable of change.

I believe that Jason has made a mistake and acknowledges their wrongdoing, and I feel that they deserve a chance to be rehabilitated and make a positive contribution to society. I know they are remorseful and regret the choices they have made that have led them to this point.

I understand the severity of the charges and the possible consequences, and I urge you to consider that a sentence of rehabilitation rather than incarceration may be more beneficial for Jason and for society. I respectfully ask that you consider my words and offer Jason a second chance.

Sincerely,

Howard Jones
